Beauties and the beast publicize the '79 Shrine circus

The circus has come to town. And the highlight of the pre-circus festivities, the annual Shrine parade in Granite City, attracted thousands of Quad-Cityans Tuesday night.

Sights ranged from beautiful girls atop the Perry County Shrine Club steamboat, at left, to a make-believe gorilla which broke out of his cage to "attack" the photographer.

Cages of make-believe wild animals were provided by the Ma-Cli-Bo (Madison, Clinton and Bond counties) Shrine Club for the local parade.

The 1979 Ainad Shrine circus opened its local run last night at Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road, and will continue tonight and tomorrow night, with performances at 7:30. The Press-Record photos are by Gary Schneider.

One of the overpass grants vetoed by U.S.

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record
Granite City's bid to complete its financing for the downtown overpass with a $1.5 million grant in federal funds has been rejected by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Mayor Paul Schuler disclosed Tuesday.

The mayor said he had received a letter from Robert C. Embury Jr., assistant secretary in the office of community planning and development at the HUD office in Washington, which informed the city it "is not eligible to apply for action grant funds this fiscal quarter."

Embury said in the letter that Granite City's "past performance in providing equal opportunity in housing has been inadequate." The letter continued:

"The Housing Authority (in Granite City) operates four public projects consisting of 651 units, yet none are occupied by minorities. Also, the city has never applied for Section 8 Existing housing units."

"Based on this finding, the city of Granite City has not demonstrated that it has achieved reasonable results in providing equal opportunity in housing for members of minority groups as required by Section 570.452(d) of the Community Development Block Grant

No-bid garbage pact sought

A proposal that Granite City negotiate renewal of its garbage and trash collection contract without competitive bidding will be discussed next week between the City Council's sanitation and finance committees and Kenneth Hartbarger, regional director of SCA Services which operates Mal Landfill and the Milan-East collection service.

Milan-East now holds the Granite City garbage collection contract at a total price of $438,795 for the current 1979-80 fiscal year — the last year of a three-year contract awarded in 1977. The proposal that Granite City award a new contract on the basis of the present price schedule, plus 5 percent to meet inflation costs, was made by Hartbarger at the regular council session Tuesday night when Hartbarger appeared to discuss the problem of disposing of waste sludge from the city's sewage disposal plant on the Army Installation grounds.

Hartbarger told the aldermen that the work of hauling sludge from the treatment plant was undertaken by Milan-East at no extra cost in the original contract, but that when the practice was begun it was with the understanding that the hauling of sludge would be for only about three months.

Schools to stress writing

Writing skill is useful and necessary in virtually all walks of life, but concern is being voiced in most states that students' grasp of the skill is deteriorating. Granite Cityans are ready to "do something in our own school district to help reverse this universal problem," according to Mrs. Merna M. Musterman, coordinator of gifted programs.

Approved by the Board of Education on Tuesday night, "Project: Write On!" will be tried on a pilot basis in the fall semester, utilizing high school faculty members at the elementary level. Supt. Bob J. Davis recommended the experiment, noting that the idea had originated with the faculty.

"Participants in the planning will include Curriculum Coordinator Owen Humphrey and his successor, Warren Collins, South High Principal James Dumont, Helen Kuenstler, South English department head, and Supt. Davis and Mrs. Musterman.

Maryville School will be the location, and Mrs. Sandra Hughes will be the instructor, with Miss Kuenstler assisting on curriculum planning, evaluation and preparation of written documentation. Continuation of the project beyond January 1980 will depend on the effectiveness of the program during the fall.

Humphrey commented, "Two classes will be involved, preferably the combination of 3rd and 5th or 4th and 6th grades. High ability groups are desirable."

"Mrs. Hughes will be present daily at the participating school, conducting approximately 45-minute class periods, splitting the days between the two classes. The periods will begin at 10:30 a.m. She also will continue teaching at the high school.

"The regular classroom teachers will be present during all instruction periods to assist with classroom management, needs assessment, follow-up activities, instruction, and evaluation of both the individual students and the entire pilot study. They may also be requested to contribute to the formulation of a syllabus."

"Mrs. Musterman will serve as a resource person in the project and will be available to lend assistance with curriculum development and provision of specialized materials."

"The latter describes the principal goal as "to coordinate the expertise of multi-level staff members in our district to develop a curriculum specifically designed to improve written communication."

Supt. Davis said Tuesday night, "An evaluation of the program will be made, with a report back to the board on its successes and failures."

"If the program is successful, we may want to institute this type of program in other schools. This would, of course, depend on the success of the program, availability of personnel, and finances."

Miss Kuenstler related, "In spite of numerous opportunities for writing in high school English classes, few

Skilled graduates

SHARON SACKETT, a new GCHS North graduate, has had office experience as part of the school district's Cooperative Education Program. Her duties included filing, typing, study of telephone technique and receptionist work. Her courses have included typing, shorthand, office machines and bookkeeping, and she is interested in a full-time office job with opportunity for advancement.

CONRAD A. SHEPPARD, a 1979 GCHS South graduate, has completed courses in algebra, geometry and drafting and has had two years of vocational electricity. He has been a restaurant employee and a hospital television installer and says, "I'm willing to take any job which will help me to eventually reach my goal of becoming an electrician."

The schools' Placement Office (877-1512, Extension 65) staff comments, "Granite City graduates make fine employees."

Venice 'seniors' need meal site

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

The Venice Park Board came under criticism of the Venice City Council Tuesday night over a park board decision to not let senior citizens use the park recreation building on Broadway during the summer.

The senior citizens may lose their daily meal program if denied the use of the recreation building, in that loss of the facilities might cause an interruption in the meal plan, it was asserted.

The denial of the use of the center is for the June 11-Aug. 3 period, during which time a youth recreation program may be using the center for arts and crafts as well as conducting outdoor activities in Lee Park.

Due to funding problems—both Venice Mayor Tyronne Echols and Park Board President Barbara Harrell said—there is a question of how extensive the youth program will be this year. Nevertheless, it is being regarded as incompatible with daytime use of the park center by the elderly.

The City of Venice in the past has funded half the expense for a summer youth park program, but due to the city financial crisis no funds appear available for the program from the city in 1979. Whether new fund sources can be found by the park district is unknown.

Assistance for some on Chouteau sewer costs

Chouteau Township officials are conducting a survey to determine how much aid can be offered to needy residents in linking their home sewers to the new sanitary sewers being installed in the township.

Officials hope to use Community Development grant funds to help low-income residents meet the cost of connecting their homes with the new sanitary sewers within the coming year.

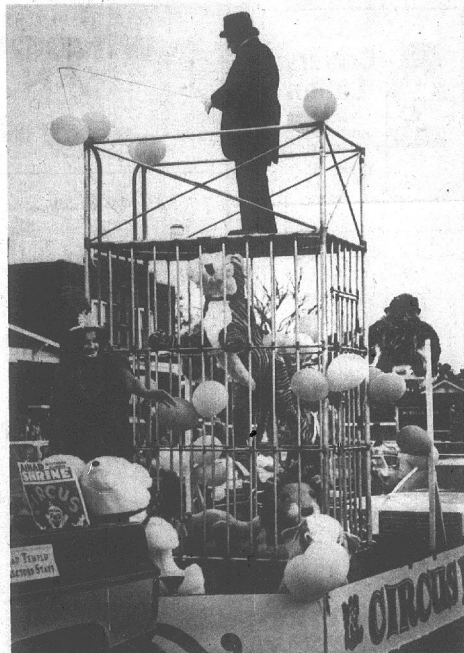

Input from those who will be applying for assistance is needed now, so that township officials and members of the community development advisory committee can determine what percentage of the sewer connection cost can be offered to persons in various income categories.

A coupon that appears above should be returned to the township listing family income and the approximate number of feet of sewer line that will have to be installed from the home to the new sanitary sewers.

Town Clerk Patricia Polley stated, "It is important that we have this information immediately so we can

Governor backs air reclassification here

Representatives of IMAGE received a promise of support Thursday from Illinois Governor James R. Thompson in the group's effort to change the Environmental Protection Agency classification for the Illinois portion of the St. Louis metropolitan area.

IMAGE, a joint labor-management group working for the construction industry in Southern Illinois, met with Gov. Thompson to request his assistance in obtaining a reclassification of air standards from Class II to Class III in Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

The governor responded by offering to urge the EPA to consider the reclassification. Thompson also promised to explore the possibility of funding any additional studies necessary to demonstrate the need and feasibility for reclassification.

Gov. Thompson told the IMAGE representatives that he would report back to them after studying the information on reclassification supplied to him by IMAGE and once he has contacted the EPA with his request.

In addition, the governor asked IMAGE to assist him in other matters of concern to industry in Southern Illinois.

Continual loss of new construction, revenue and jobs could become a reality in Southern Illinois unless the EPA classification is changed, it was stressed.

The change from Class II to Class III area could possibly "double the area's growth potential in air pollution levels, which will still remain well within the National Ambient Air Quality Standards," the group said.

IMAGE representatives from labor, management and industry as well as several state legislators who have supported the reclassification attended the meeting with Gov. Thompson.

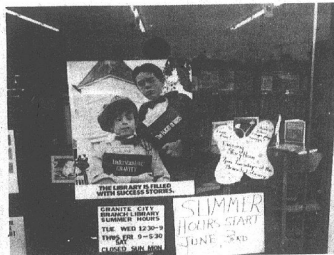

IMAGE Co-Chairman Robert Wels expressed optimism after the meeting. "However," he said, "we're looking at close to $185 million in contract commitments that may not be carried because of pending EPA approval."

Stanley Garst, labor relations director at Granite City Steel, agreed. "In addition," Garst contended,

"any big company considering a location in our area will move somewhere else if they have to fight the EPA standards."

Everyone present agreed that clean air is a major consideration. Byron Farrell, IMAGE co-chairman, stated, "We all want clean air but we also realize that industrialized air won't be as clean as air in a national forest."

With the assistance of Gov. Thompson and his understanding of the urgency of the situation in this region's construction industry, the solutions to the problems may be forthcoming in the form of reclassification of EPA standards in the area."

Chouteau tax rate set at 27.5 cents

The Chouteau Township Board Monday night received tax rates for town purposes totaling 27.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The rates include 19.9 cents for the town fund and 7.6 cents for the general assistance fund. The tax rates mean that during this summer's collection, the owner of a $30,000 home (assessed at $10,000 or one-third of the market value) will pay $27.50 in taxes to support the township, not including highway taxes. The assessed valuation of the township to which the rates will be applied is $34,163,265. The town fund levy supports a budget totaling $77,695 and the general assistance levy will support a $47,300 budget. The town board noted the rates and assessed valuation during its regular meeting Monday night. In other business, it was announced the township's mosquito-spraying program will begin as soon as the chemicals which have been ordered arrive. Highway Commissioner Wilfred "Bud" Eberhardt has purchased a truck and the new mosquito sprayer has been mounted in preparation for the program. However, slowdowns by some trucking firms may delay the start of the program, since the chemicals are being shipped by truck, it was related.

Bachelor degree to Judy Goudy

Illinois College, the first college in the state to grant a degree, graduated a class of 125 in commencement ceremonies on the campus this spring. Among those receiving degrees was Judy Goudy, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Goudy, 922 Reynolds St., Madison, who received a bachelor of arts degree in economics and business administration. The 1979 commencement address was delivered by Dr. Jack Pellason, president of the American Council on Education. The baccalaureate speaker was Mrs. Patricia Metcalf, an elder of the First Presbyterian Church and vice-moderator of the 190th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA. Illinois College is celebrating its 150th year in 1979.

Revaluation status uncertain—Cruse

Von Dee Cruse, Granite City Township assessor, denied before a meeting of the City Council Tuesday night that he has told anyone that his office will be unable to complete a revaluation of real estate in Granite City in time for it to become effective for the 1979 tax year. Cruse, responding to a request by several aldermen that he explain statements attributed to him concerning completion of the township revaluation, conceded "it is possible" the work cannot be finished for the 1979 year, but added that his office "is doing everything possible to get the job done in time." His response came after Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward criticized reports that Cruse does not plan to complete the revaluation work in time to be included in this year's assessment books. Under the law, books are supposed to be turned over to county assessing officials June 1, but traditionally the books are held as late as August. "This is very important to the people in my ward," Decatur said, adding, "The assessments are supposed to be revaluated every four years. Instead, we had an 8 percent multiplier last year and an 11 percent multiplier this year."

Decatur made a motion that the City Council "mandate" that Cruse complete the revaluation work for the current year assessment books. The motion was approved, but Cruse replied:

"This is a very responsible job and I'm not going to be rushed into something and not have it done right."

"You can mandate, or order, or whatever you want but I will do what is best." Cruse said he has not yet determined whether he can complete the revaluation in time for the 1979 books, but noted that as soon as he can determine what his office is able to do, he will inform the council.

Alderman Paul R. Bowler of the Seventh Ward said that Cruse had promised during a meeting of the council finance committee on budget projections, the work would be finished for this year.

"I didn't promise you fellows anything," Cruse said.

Cruse was permitted to address the council after a vote was taken approving Decatur's motion that the council mandate completion of the assessment revaluation for the 1979 year. As the work was completed, Alderman Roy Polos of the Third Ward, suggested that Cruse, who was in the audience, provide an explanation. Second Ward Alderman Samuel Whitmer who was serving as mayor pro-tem in the absence of Mayor Paul Schuler, replied:

"What is there to explain? He's already said he isn't going to do it."

Cruse was given the floor, however, and told the aldermen there was no firm commitment yet that the job couldn't be done. Following Cruse's remarks, Whitmer said that Cruse was now aware of the council's wishes and that after he makes his determination about completing the work he will inform the council of his plans.

Cruse attended Tuesday night's meeting of the council, which also is the Town Board, because of a letter he sent to the Town Board requesting that the engineering department prepare specifications for remodeling work to be done on the ground floor of the City Hall so that the township assessing offices can move into the space formerly occupied by the police department.

The council members who make up the Town Board earlier granted a request by Cruse that his offices be located in the area formerly occupied by the police department because of the added room it would provide. Since moving into the new Township Building at 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, Cruse has contended that he had insufficient room for his staff of workers.

The board approved Cruse's request for preparation of specifications and authorized a call for bids on the work after the specifications are ready.

Seek father, son in custody case

Efforts to locate 21-month-old Kevin Krueckel, who was grabbed from his great-grandmother's arms Sunday morning on Oaklawn Drive, have been unsuccessful, thus far, police said this morning.

Police also are looking for the boy's father who allegedly pushed Mrs. Elizabeth Louis, 80, the boy's great-grandmother, to the ground when the child was taken. Mrs. Louis has signed a battery complaint against the father, Dave Wendell Krueckel, 41, and a warrant was issued Monday for his arrest with bond set at $5,000.

The boy's mother, Cindy Louis, 28, was driving back from California after closing the sale of her house there, part of her separation from her husband. She was informed of the incident when she arrived at the Oaklawn Drive home of Mrs. Irene Louis, her mother, at 5:30 p.m. Sunday. Police were told that the Louis family received a call about 9:30 a.m. Sunday from Krueckel, asking to speak to Kevin. They believed he was in California. About 15 minutes later, the boy was placed in a car and driven away.

Area authorities, including officials at Lambert St. Louis International Airport, were alerted to watch for Krueckel, in case he decided to return to California.

Krueckel is 6 feet, 4 inches tall, thin, weighs about 180 pounds and has light brown hair and a mustache.

The boy is blond, has blue-hazel eyes and was wearing a blue shirt, red corduroy overalls and blue-black tennis shoes. Anyone having information or seeing a man and child matching those descriptions is asked to call the Granite City police at 877-6111.

Problem with new housing

Mayor Tyrone Echols announced to the Venice City Council Tuesday evening that he has heard indirectly that some problems are developing with HUD (U.S. Housing and Urban Development) over the proposed new housing complex.

"I will be going to Chicago to meet with the HUD people on Monday and see what we can work out. Last week a HUD investigator was here looking over the city and the proposed site at Klein and Bissell," Echols said.

"W. A. Thomas, the planner and a representative from the Urban League will be going with me."

"I was told HUD is concerned because the area is in a flood plain and that noise from the trains would be objectionable."

"I think we have to talk to these people personally and that is just what we are going to do," Echols said.

The 8.94-acre tract of land is owned by the city and would be sold at about $100,000 to private developers for construction of a 133 unit housing complex.

The Madison School Board, Madison City Council and Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk have all openly opposed the Venice project.

Reasons for the objections from Madison officials are, basically, that it is felt an undue hardship would fall on the school system of Madison and the site in question is more suitable for industry.

Some Venice officials feel that HUD's reluctance to give final approval is due to actions taken by various Madison officials.

Henry W. Fischer of Hardesty and Hanover Consulting Engineers from New York spoke to the council about the McKinley bridge.

The firm is making its inspection of the bridge.

Fischer explained that the J.S. Alberici Construction Company did most of the bridge repair work. Fischer said the Alberici firm did most work on a cost plus basis and over the years it has proven very beneficial to the city.

Alberici was noted to be a firm with the highest of integrity, in addition to having the material, equipment and expertise to do almost any job that arises.

The main problem with the bridge is rust and the need to continually replace and repair expansion joints.

According to Fischer,

PERRY'S PARENTS OF THIRD CHILD

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Perry (formerly Lanier) of Sikeston, Mo., are the parents of their first child (second daughter) born June 4 at the Community Hospital in Sikeston.

The baby girl has been named Anna Mae in honor of her great-grandmother, Anna Mae Liebster, who resides at the Colonial Haven Nursing Home.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perry and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Landis, all of Granite City.

The other children are Amy Michelle, seven years old, and Drew Michael, four.

Births

Births recorded at St. Elizabeth Hospital, include:

GIRLS

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Warren, 2923 Iowa St., June 4, Kellie Marie, seven pounds, seven ounces.

BOYS

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Medley, 317 East Chalmers Road, June 4, Justin Evan, eight pounds, one ounce.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tinko, 1400 Norwood Drive, June 5, Daniel William, eight pounds, 10 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bessley, 2821 Marshall Ave., June 6, Gary Allan, two pounds, 15 ounces.

"But the three months have turned into 24 months," Hartbarger said, noting that the additional cost to the collection service is giving the firm severe financial problems.

"We are losing about $5,000 a month," through the extra work, he said.

Explaining that the contract bidding in 1977 was based on information that the hauling of sludge from the treatment plant would be only a matter of months, Hartbarger noted that he believes the collection service is entitled to some relief for the remaining period of the existing contract. He made no mention of retroactive payment for sludge hauling during the first two years of the contract.

"We are not after blood. We just

would like some relief," Hartbarger told the council.

At that point, Hartbarger suggested that the firm would be willing to renew its contract, which expires in mid-1980, at the original price, plus 5 percent.

He noted that when the contract was awarded to Milan-East in 1977, the dollars below the next lowest bidder.

The aldermen decided further discussions on the contract should continue with members of the finance and sanitation committees: Paul R. Bowler, alderman of the Seventh Ward and chairman of the finance committee, told Hartbarger he would arrange a meeting.

Bowler told the Press-Record after the council session that the meeting probably will be held next week at a time yet to be arranged, and noted, "There is a number of questions that will have to be explored."

One of these, he said, is the matter of negotiating a contract, rather than arranging it on the basis of competitive bidding.

The Milan-East contract for a three-year period was based on a bid price of $399,000 for garbage and trash collection during the 1977-78 year, with a 5 percent increase in the second and third years.

This made the contract cost $417,900 during the 1978-79 year and $438,795 during the current year, a total of $1.2 million for the three years.

Schools

students evidence any marked improvement.

"Having read selections for the Young Authors Conference, I am most anxious to conduct the writing experiment at the elementary school level to determine whether we can provide students at all levels with the kind of help that might enable them to improve their writing skills."

"Students will write compositions in and outside of class. These should serve as a springboard for practically all activities, especially the proposals which follow:

1. "Emphasize the development of one paragraph. Teach students to think before they write, to determine the purpose of that paragraph, to list ideas that support that purpose, and finally to organize ideas before beginning to write."

2. "Teach sentence combining, to eliminate monotony and oversimplified style."

3. "Teach students to be concise. Type worksheets listing phrases taken from compositions, and ask pupils to reduce each phrase to fewer words; e.g., 'all of a sudden' and 'did not like' can be written as 'suddenly' and 'dislike'."

4. "Improve vocabulary, not through memorization of synonyms found in a dictionary, but through usage in writing. Many, perhaps most, high school students use a very limited number of verbs, the most important word in the sentence. Teach students to search for more exact verbs, regardless of their grade level."

"For example, I ask freshmen to list as many variations as they can think of for verbs like walk and talk. Such an activity might work well with younger children and lead them to a dictionary to seek more words after exhausting the resources of their own minds."

"Use word games to improve vocabulary; make up games in which every answer ends in ant or ate.

5. "Since elementary students are often creative, and certainly less inhibited than adolescents, provide exercises in developing the imagination work with them in the use of similes: 'Soft as,' 'cold as,' 'happy as,' etc."

6. "Provide a wide variety of writing experiences: description of Thanksgiving dinner or a Christmas tree, favorite family activity, a person I would like to meet, a place I would like to visit, a movie or book or television program I really enjoyed, what I am like, what I like most about school, how I feel about my pet, why someone is my friend."

"Ask students to keep a journal. Dampen the room and have students pretend they are in some other place; then ask them to describe their reactions or feelings. Read a poem or prose passage to the class, asking students to respond to what they heard or to use the poem or prose as a model for a writing activity."

much of a program they will have."

President Harrell cited a 4-1 vote by the board to deny the senior citizens use of the building during the two months.

"I voted for the senior citizens to stay and I thought this problem could be worked out through scheduling, but the four other board members felt differently," Mrs. Harrell said.

This is the second year for a senior citizen meal program.

Last year, during the two months when young people were using the park building, the senior citizens were fed in the basement of the city garage; however, the meal program supervisor, from Edwardsville, said the garage basement is not suitable to serve meals in, according to Mrs. Harrell.

The aldermanic senior citizen committee and the mayor will try and arrange a meeting with the park board.

None of those in the discussion raised the point of whether there might be some other feasible location for Venice senior citizen meals, other than Lee Park or the municipal garage on Klein Street.

The meal project operates with the cooperation of the Economic Oppor-

'Shoulder' parking ban on Pontoon

A resolution prohibiting parking of large trucks on the north side shoulder of Pontoon Road between the Dairy Queen restaurant and the Alton & Southern railroad tracks was among a series of traffic control ordinances approved by the Granite City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night.

The action was taken at the request of the Illinois Department of Transportation which informed the aldermen that the weight of large trucks is too great for the roadway shoulder.

The council enacted on final passage an ordinance prohibiting parking on the north side of 24th Street between Madison Avenue and Iowa Street. The measure also provides that there shall be no temporary or "leave-standing" parking on that street area.

Another ordinance approved by the aldermen establishes two-hour parking for 100 feet from the northeast corner of St. Clair Avenue, eastward on both sides of the westbound lane.

Two-hour parking was established in another ordinance for 70 feet along the east right-of-way line of Ash Avenue from its intersection with the north right-of-way of St. Clair Avenue.

That ordinance also prohibits parking on the south side of 25th Street from the alley between Benton Street and Cleveland Boulevard to 25th Street and Cleveland.

Ronald Motil earns government degree

Ronald Motil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Motil Jr. of Granite City, will graduate Friday evening from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a bachelor of science degree in government.

For the past three years, he has been employed as a deputy circuit court clerk for Madison County. In the fall, he will attend the John Marshall Law School in Chicago.

Adolfo Martinez, 44, dies

Adolfo Martinez, 44, of 1717 Spruce St., was pronounced dead at his home at 8:13 a.m. Tuesday by Madison County Deputy Coroner David Partney.

Mr. Martinez had been ill for the last eight months. An inquiry is pending.

He was born in Nuevo-Ideal, Durango, Mexico, and had resided in New Orleans, La., before coming to this area about five years ago. Mr. Martinez was employed at the School of Cosmetology in New Orleans for eight years. He was of the Catholic faith.

His parents, Joseph and Pastora Martinez, preceded him in death.

Surviving are three brothers, Hector, Adrian and Joe Martinez, all of Granite City; and three sisters, Mrs. Consuelo King of LaPorte, Ind., Mrs. Angelina Jones of Granite City and Mrs. Frank (Rosa) Aiello of St. Louis.

Arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Money problems plague Venice

The city of Venice will meet its payroll today, but the city's creditors will not be paid, the Venice City Council was informed at its meeting Tuesday.

City Comptroller Jeff Tolliver reported that there was only $8,882 in the general fund as of Tuesday. He told the council that in addition to a $4,000 insurance bill owed, there was $5,900 in bills approved but not paid from the last city council meeting. Due to lack of funds, Tolliver also said he had another $6,900 in bills to be paid after Tuesday night's meeting. To meet the payroll, the council approved the transfer of $10,000 from the working cash fund to the general fund, $13,000 from the motor fuel tax fund to the general fund and $2,000 from federal revenue sharing funds to the Illinois Municipal Retirement fund.

Due to the financial problem, the council authorized two firemen to attend a special training school; but they will not be reimbursed by the city until funds are available. Receipts must be furnished before reimbursement for actual expenses, the council said.

Under the same provisions imposed on the two firemen, the council authorized the city treasurer to attend the Illinois

Municipal Treasurers Association meeting to be held in Peoria on June 21 and 22; and Mayor Tyrone Echols to attending a June 11 meeting in Chicago with Housing and Urban Development representatives on the proposed housing program in Venice. The council again refused to pay Alderman Phillip Daniels as a fireman, claiming again it is a conflict of interest. Daniels was absent from the meeting.

"The city is, therefore, not eligible to apply for Action Grant funds this fiscal quarter."

Under the Section 8 program, properties are rented by the housing authority from landlords, and HUD pays the difference between the full rent and a 25 percent portion charged to the family.

Embry added that Granite City, in order to be reconsidered for block grant funds "would have to demonstrate significant progress towards providing housing for minority families outside areas of minority concentration."

In presenting the letter to the City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night, the mayor said, "This is a real blow."

He asked that the council's ad hoc committee on overpass planning arrange a meeting some time next week to study what steps may be taken by the city to raise the remaining funds needed to finance the overpass construction.

That committee was appointed by the mayor only two weeks ago. It includes Aldermen Warren Decatur, Margaret Nonn, Lloyd Bailey, Glen Sprankle and the mayor serving as chairman.

Mayor Schuler told the Press-Record that he has not yet determined what steps will be taken next to raise the needed overpass funds.

The city had counted heavily on approval of the UDAG (Urban Development Action Grant) application in view of assurances given by U.S. Sen. Charles Percy during the 1978 election campaign that a source of funds would be found. During the election campaign last fall, Sen. Percy told city officials the overpass "will be built" and assured local leaders the funds would be raised.

Granite City filed an application for the UDAG grant to provide the funds still needed to meet the current $5.2 million estimated construction cost for the overpass. More than $4 million is accounted for from other sources, including grants from the Federal Aid to Urban Systems program and the Community Development program.

Steel shortage forecast during AISI meeting

Current trends in the world and domestic steel markets are expected to move from current oversupply conditions to practical balance by 1985 and possible shortage thereafter, George A. Stinson, chairman of National Steel Corp., said at a special briefing session on trade and other steel industry issues prior to the 87th general meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Stinson gave these reasons for his prediction: —Present world steel capacity is about 12 percent higher than world steel production. Governments in countries where most of this excess capacity exists — especially in Europe — no longer are willing to underwrite the massive financial losses incurred by their steelmakers and are forcing retrenchment. The Japanese also are cutting back.

—Although less developed nations are increasing their steel capacity, this increase is not likely to keep pace with the anticipated growth in world steel demand, estimated at between three and four percent a year.

—Anticipated increases in domestic capacity through modernization or expansion will be offset to some extent by the retirement of some capacity. The result will be only a modest increase in overall capacity, at a time when domestic steel consumption will be increasing between two and two-and-a-half percent per year.

Consequently, it is unlikely that steel imports will be required above present levels up to 1985, and it is probable that supply will fail to meet demand requirements after 1985.

"At best," Stinson said, "this will mean high costs to purchasers in world markets and, at worst, shortages of steel for the U.S. economy."

The main reason U.S. steel capacity will not grow fast enough to meet anticipated demand, Stinson indicated, is that steel industry profits and capital formation are inadequate.

During the first quarter of 1979, he said, the industry's return on equity was 8.3 percent — just a little more than half of all industry performance. Despite a much improved performance, steel industry net profits margins were a "bleak" 2.6 percent in this period, compared to all-industry average of five percent, he related.

Adding to the capital problem, Stinson said, is the fact that "environmental expenditures have drained much capital that could have been used for modernized facilities and added to capacity. They also have increased our operating costs and reduced steelmaking efficiency."

First K-6 pupils leave Johnson

The end of the 1978-79 school year at Russell D. Johnson Grade School was marked by the first children leaving the building who had started school there as kindergarten pupils.

The building, named in memory of the late Superintendent of Schools Russell D. Johnson, was opened in 1972.

To commemorate the occasion, the names of pupils who have attended classes from kindergarten through their sixth year of school were inscribed on a large certificate of recognition.

The framed certificate will be placed on a wall inside the building. Principal Richard Brinkhoff said.

The document reads: "This certifies that the following students have completed kindergarten through sixth grade at Russell D. Johnson School. They hold the honor of being the first group of students to do so. They shall always remain special to our school."

Children listed on the certificate are: Brad Wofford, Angie Novosel, Chris Palmisano, Rochelle Hoffman, Bryan Verman, Lisa Spiller, Tim Glendening, Ricky Paul, Keith Payne, Greg Gobble, Pam Gibson, Pam Love, Jim Stanley, Jeff Lanes, Phil Pryor.

Plant blooms after 21 years

A house plant kept by Mrs. Vernon (Fay) Ryan in her home, 4737 Warnock Ave., for 21 years has bloomed for the first time.

Mrs. Ryan said the plant was given to her by neighbors upon the death of an infant son, Tony, on May 5, 1958.

Several of the same neighbors have visited the Ryan home this week to see the late-blooming plant that one woman said is a "surprise" Lily.

"It certainly was a surprise when it finally bloomed," Mrs. Ryan commented.

"The Church in the Heart of the City — With the City at Heart"

To join archeological search

By VALERIE EVENDEN of the Press-Record

Andy Pierson, a senior next year at Granite City High School North, leaves next week for the Holy Land to join the search for the lost city of Ai.

Andy will be one of 32 high school and college students converging on a site, roughly 10 miles north of Jerusalem, in an effort to discover the precise location of the second city captured in Joshua's conquest of the Holy Land.

Sponsors of the dig are the Associates for Biblical Research of Philadelphia, Pa., and the Institute for Creation Research of San Diego, Calif.

The archeological expedition seeks to find clues for the biblical dating of the Exodus from Egypt by the children of Israel and their "conquest of the Promised Land."

The importance of the Ai archeological expedition is indicated through approval of the project by the Rockefeller Institute of Near East Studies and the Israeli government.

It is the only new archeological site to be opened in the Holy Land in recent years.

In preparation of the rigors of digging in the hot, barren terrain of the Ai dig, Andy has been doing strenuous physical exercises and extensive reading about the region.

He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Don F. Pierson, 4092 Vesel Ave.

Rev. Pierson is pastor of the United Presbyterian Church and Mrs. Pierson is president of Church Women United of the Quad-Cities.

The three-week experience also will include evening lectures by leading Holy Land archeologists on the latest developments in this field.

Dr. Gordon Franz of the Israeli government, long associated with the archeological discoveries of Jerusalem, will be the on-site director of the operation.

The group also will take part in tours through the Jordan Valley and Golan Heights, the area of Solomon's Mines, Samaria, Jacob's Well and the Dead Sea, Jericho, along the coast to Galilee and through the Sinai Desert to Beersheba and the Philistine country.

The Granite City North senior student toured Egypt, Jordan and the Holy Land with the tour director, David Livingston, in 1977.

Livingston heads the Associates for Biblical Research and lectures at colleges and seminars throughout the United States.

He and the Rev. Pierson were seminary classmates and co-sponsor tours of the Holy Land each autumn.

Experiences gained by Andy this summer will be helpful to his parents when they make their third journey to the Holy Land in October, the pastor commented.

The new Ai dig is located two miles southwest of the traditional location for Bethel and Ai.

It is named Khirbet Nisieh (Nisyah) and is near Ramallah-Bira and the barren terrain of the Arab communities.

The dig site is rich in fossils and the surface artifacts include pottery, coins and flints, among other items.

The excavation team will be looking for Canaanite remains under the Israelite occupation.

At Ai was a Canaanite city and no trace of Canaanite occupation has been discovered at the traditional sites, the dig sponsors note.

It was explained that Joshua burned only three cities—Hazor, Jericho and Ai.

The first two have been extensively excavated, but with mixed results. A new location for Ai may help put some of the pieces of the puzzle together.

Underlying the importance of a new discovery is the fact that previous digs at Bethel and Ai changed the dates for the Exodus-Conquest from early biblical dates to late archeological dates (150 years later).

Most people have accepted the dates, but this has created problems related to Scripture inerrancy, the dig sponsors said.

"It also means, we are looking for evidence of the Plagues 150 years too late and cannot find any," they added.

"It also means, we are looking for evidence of the Plagues 150 years too late and cannot find any," they added.

DOMES OF ROCK in Jerusalem forms the background for Andy Pierson, 17, and his mother, Mrs. Marion Pierson. They are the wife and son of the Rev. Don F. Pierson, pastor of Nameoki United Presbyterian Church.

A successful dig and the finding of Ai, also the correct location for Bethel, will help establish the authenticity of the Bible—that it is not full of error for this period of time.

People today want facts, not just opinions. "We provide the facts and God's Spirit provides faith," the sponsoring group stated.

It was noted that "one prayer was answered" when permission to dig on the West Bank of the River Jordan was granted for the first time in several years.

At Ai may be the only key left to unlock the mystery of the confused dating for the Exodus and Conquest which seems to undermine the inerrancy of Scripture, the dig organizers stress.

To earn money for his trip, Andy has worked the past winter as a banquet waiter and in apartment maintenance.

The young man is ready for his return journey to Bethlehem, Nazareth and Jerusalem.

To a corner of the world that has seen countless civilizations come and go, where events have taken place that have shaped world history and continue to do so to this very day.

This time he goes not as a tourist, but on a quest.

Miss Edwards wed to Timothy Sherlock

MAY WEDDING. Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Sherlock were married May 26 at Community Heights Assembly of God Church. The bride is the former Miss Tamara Sue Edwards. (Jackson Photo)

Miss Tamara Sue Edwards became the bride of Timothy Eugene Sherlock May 26 in an afternoon ceremony at Community Heights Assembly of God Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Edwards, 2258 Benton St. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldon Sherlock, 2608 Propes Ave.

Tapered candles decorated the altar as the Rev. Jeff Smith performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride selected a formal length, white, empire gown of organza. Venise lace appliques enhanced the bodice.

The dress featured an attached chapel train. Her Venise lace headpiece secured a fingertip veil with Venise lace trim and blusher. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses, carnations and baby breath. Maid of honor Brenda Roudy and bridesmaids Connie Pilat and Tina Wyatt wore matching gowns of blue tulle with long sleeves, a blouson bodice and full pleated skirts. They each carried one long stemmed yellow rose.

Jamie Vance was flower girl and Bryan Pilat was ringbearer.

Bruce Roudy served as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Gary Pilat, Scott Wiesehan, Gary Mouser and Richard Cooper.

Both are graduates of Granite City High School South. They will reside in Granite City.

Delray Lodge has guest night

Guest night was observed at a meeting of Delray Lodge 786 at the Odd Fellows Hall in Madison.

Noble Grand Hazel Wheelwright presided at the formal meeting. Special guests of the evening were Mildred Yednak, president of the Illinois Rebekah Assembly, and Mary Miller, warden of the Rebekah Assembly.

As the members introduced their guests, each was presented a gift. Ina Hamilton was welcomed as a new member of the lodge.

Mrs. Yednak gave a talk on various subjects pertaining to the organization.

The annual picnic will be held June 24 at the Odd Fellow Children's Home in Lincoln.

There were 57 members in attendance, representing Granite City, Madison, Nameoki, Streator, Greenville, Lebanon, Troy, Collinsville, Alton, Edwardsville, Belleville, and Fairview Heights.

After the meeting, all adjourned to the dining room for a buffet luncheon served by the refreshment committee, Verna Willman, Betty Applegate, Daisy Burnett and Linda Butts. Delray's next meeting will be June 12 at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Marchers and floats delight Shriners' big parade crowd

New rail ties being installed

Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, an IC Industries company, currently has track work under way on its Missouri Division, which stretches across the state of Missouri and also portions of Illinois.

The project includes work in the area of the ICG Venice Junction.

In ICG's Alton District, plans include 42,800 ties to be installed from Lincoln to Broadwell, a round Springfield to Chatham, Shipman to Godfrey and from north of Wood River to the Venice Junction.

Switch ties will go in at Wann, Auburn, Nilwood, Carlinville, Chatham, Sherman and Springfield. Complete switches will be relaid at seven locations and a railroad crossing is scheduled for installation at Springfield. Ten miles of surfacing also will be completed in this district.

EVERYONE LOVES A PARADE and Tuesday night's Shrine circus parade in Granite City attracted thousands to see floats, marchers, bands and other attractions. Above, the Highlanders from Alhambra Crotto Shrine in St. Louis pass between the large crowd lining Madison Avenue at 28th Street. At right, Attorney John Gitchoff, 24 Oaklawn Terrace, a former Madison County circuit judge, proudly supports his son, Milo, for a better view of the parade. At left, cartoon characters Snoopy and Woodstock were among those who were lucky enough to ride on a float for the annual event. Photos were taken by Gary Schneider of the Press-Record.

Choir to tour

The youth choir of Grace Baptist Church will be touring Kentucky, Arkansas and Texas from June 10 until June 14. Approximately 35 youths will be presenting music around the theme of Bold Missions. Robert Patton, music director, said, "Our major goal of the tour is to solicit prayer support for the Bold Mission Thrust in Illinois."

MATTHEWS CAMPUS NEWSPAPER EDITOR Ted Matthews, a junior journalism student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been named editor of the campus newspaper, the Alestle, for the 1979-80 academic year. Matthews, 22, of Jacksonville, will supervise the production of the 6,000-circulation newspaper and its 30 staff members. It is printed on the Press-Record press.

Postpone split of levee district

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record
Hopes that the Metro-East Sanitary District can be divided along the Madison-St. Clair County line will likely have to wait until the fall session of the legislature, State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) told the Press-Record Tuesday.

Wolf said a lack of unified support by the Democratic and Republican representatives from Madison and St. Clair counties makes it unlikely that his bill to split the district can be declared emergency legislation, which would require 107 votes to move it from the House Rules Committee and onto the floor.

In May, Wolf submitted a bill which would split the district, primarily along the county line, but would give Madison County control of the Cahokia Drainage Canal and the North Pumping Station in East St. Louis, since those facilities handle drainage primarily from Madison County.

An amendment to the bill, which would restructure it, was drafted by levee district attorneys but has not been introduced yet, Wolf said. The amendment not only sets the sizes of the controlling boards for the two new districts and provides for board members to be selected by the respective county boards, but it adds the authority for either district to annex additional territory, through public referendum.

State Rep. Celeste Stehl (R-Belleville) indicated she feared dividing the district would not leave St. Clair County enough tax income to provide essential drainage services, such as repairing broken levees and sanitary sewer lines.

She said she had heard of an effort to annex Belleville to the St. Clair County portion of the district, but was concerned that an effort would be made to annex it without a public referendum under special service area legislation.

Therefore, the proposed amendment to Wolf's bill contains the provision that annexations be by public referendum only. "This is not a change in tactics, as some have said," Wolf stated, adding, "We still are working on the original bill to split the district, but will have to wait for the fall session, which is only about three months away."

In the meantime, Madison County has control of the district and we will see what we can do to reduce the indebtedness and provide needed services," Wolf said. "If we are successful in dividing the district, I believe we, in Madison County, will see a reduction in the tax rate, once the bonds and indebtedness of the district have been retired," Wolf predicted.

An interim committee of the House of Representatives will study the bill and the proposed amendments further this summer before it is submitted to the full House this fall, it was explained.

CETA EVALUATION

Robert P. Goss, director of the Governor's Office of Manpower and Human Development, has announced a $100,000 grant to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to evaluate ways in which CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) operators and educational and vocational institutions can better coordinate their programs. Improved coordination between the facilities would boost private sector hiring of trainees and graduates, according to Goss.

A new class to study characteristics of aged black, Asian and Spanish Americans living in urban areas will be offered for the first time during the summer quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Sociology 590, The Urban Minority Aged, will compare cultural patterns of aging among the three ethnic groups and examine the corresponding support systems and special problems of the aged. The study is a joint offering by the sociology and anthropology departments and the Gerontology Program at SIUE. Robert Ashpole, assistant professor of sociology, and Joyce Aschenbrenner, chairman of the department of anthropology at SIUE, will team-teach the class, aimed at students in the behavioral sciences, education, nursing and urban studies. A special July 7 field trip to East St. Louis and St. Louis is part of the course requirement. The course offers four hours credit. Additional information is available by contacting either of the instructors or Traxler at 692-3454.

Legion run-down

District Legion teams begin play this week

GRANITE CITY—For the first time in many years, there will be balance in the District 22 American Legion Baseball League. There are several changes in the league this summer, could make for an interesting title chase.

First, there are 14 teams in the league this year, with the addition of Freeburg. Second, the races in each division (North and South) will be tighter than usual. Third, there's a new champion at the helm in Granite City.

The new champion is Kirk, son of Babe Champion, former coach of Tri-City Post 113's team and still the head baseball coach at Granite City High School South.

As for the races in the divisions of the league, it could be a toss-up in each. In the North Division, it could well boil down to another dog-fight between disguised versions of Granite City (North and South's prep teams). Glen Carbon, which features most of the GC North team at its members, and Tri-City 113, which has an entire lineup of GC South preppers seem to be the cream of the crop in that division. But don't count out Alton, Edwardsville and Collinsville. Alton won the division last season, but Manager Curt Hagen doesn't think it'll be easy to repeat.

"We're definitely in a very, very tough division," he said. "Glen Carbon, Tri-City, Edwardsville, Highland—they'll all be tough. It'll be a toss-up."

In the South, it appears to be Belleville, with strong competition from Cahokia, East St. Louis and Fairview Heights. Freeburg and Marissa could also provide some competition.

NORTH DIVISION

Alton could have a rough time repeating as North Division champions. Its pitching is questionable. Chip Brakebille and Tom Murray will handle the mound chores for Alton. With the rest of the division moving up in talent and Alton having several newcomers, it could be a rougher season this time than last for Alton.

EDWARDSVILLE Edwardsville manager Don Schaake could well have the best pitching staff in the district. The leaders on the mound will be Vince Broderick, Jim Holocok, Marty Milkovich and Tom Hanson. But the rest of the squad is green.

"No doubt about it," said Schaake, "our pitching is going to have to carry us early this season."

Other members of the team (made up mostly of Edwardsville High School players) are Bobby Mannville (first base), Phil Conreux (second base) and Dan Allaria (third base).

COLLINSVILLE Good pitching from Mark Campbell and a lot of enthusiasm may be all Collinsville has to look forward to this season—but it might be enough.

Campbell, who pitched a no-hitter and two two-hitters during high school play, will be the anchor man of the mound crew.

That enthusiasm almost carried Collinsville's high school team to the state finals in Peoria. The Kahoks came within one game, falling to Mt. Carmel 2-1 in the Belleville Sectional championship game.

Other members of the Collinsville Legion team will be catcher Randy McEwen, first baseman Barry Wilson, Scott Carson at shortstop, second baseman Doug DePain and Fred McLary at third base.

BETHALTO The future may be bright for Bethalto—but not this season. The team appears to be a season or so away from being a legitimate title contender. But Bethalto does have some outstanding individual players, including shortstop Ed Webb and third baseman LeRoy Ely.

FREEBURG The Freeburg team draws its players from three communities—Freeburg, Mascoutah and Waterloo. The mixture of the best from each town could give manager Gary Hearne an outside shot at a title bid.

"We could be very good," he said, "but this season, I don't think we'll have all the horses we need to be competitive enough to win it."

CAHOKIA Two out of three ain't bad. At least that's the way Cahokia manager Cal Neeman looks at it. "We'll rely on pitching and defense this summer. Our hitting won't be that tough," he said. "We'll have to do well defensively to do well."

The defense will include catcher Bob Tenholder, while in rest of the infield will probably include Mike Crase, Randy Ladyman and Curt McQuade.

The pitching staff will include Scott Haberl, Roger Trochtop and Greg Malone. FAIRVIEW HEIGHTS Fairview Heights has gotten off to a late start because of Belleville East's late involvement in the state baseball playoffs. Most of Fairview's players come from East. Some of the players are set. They are catcher John Dozier, shortstop Mark Hill and second baseman Jeff Eschfelder.

BELLEVILLE Belleville will boast experience this season. A total of 13 of the 18-man roster are returnees.

The pitching staff will be the most experienced. Mike Dunnigan, Craig Laske, Bard Barton and Ron Padgett will lead the way. The rest of the lineup will include Scot Lanxon at first base, Mark Gray at second base, Steve Hausman at shortstop and Dan Parker at third base.

EAST ST. LOUIS Potential. Many teams have considerable amounts of it but don't show it on the field. That may have been the case during the recent high school season with East St. Louis. Manager Art May is hoping that potential finally shines through during the summer campaign.

Tri-City explodes to destroy Bethalto 9-1

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY—Todd McFarland joked. Jeff Parker kidded on the bench. Bob Stegemeier was loose. In fact, the entire Tri-City American Legion baseball team was loose here last night. And for good reason. The Tri-City squad scored runs just about every way it could enroute to a 9-1 victory over Bethalto in District 22 action.

The victory raised Tri-City's record to 3-1 on the season. Terry Lindsey went all the way on the mound for Tri-City's win.

McFarland blasted a solo home run in the second inning after Tri-City had already claimed a 2-0 lead in the first inning of play.

In the first, Tri-City's Kevin Sykes singled and went to second when Pat Hogan walked. Both runners advanced on a double-steal. With two out, Blake Ambuehl successfully bunted his way on, scoring Sykes and Hogan.

"We're going to be taking chances like that," said Tri-City coach Kirk Champion. "We had a mixed up case of signals in the first, however."

What Champion was referring to was a situation that developed with none out in the first inning and runners on second and third. Parker, who had hit two home runs Monday against Cahokia, tried to bunt his way on base. "I take full blame for that," said Champion. "We got mixed up on the signs and he did exactly what I told him to do with my signals."

Tri-City scored at least one run in every other inning against Bethalto. It got one in the third inning, three in the fourth, one in the fifth and one in the sixth.

In the third, Stegemeier singled with two out and stole second base. Then McFarland walked and stole second on a double-steal that sent Stegemeier to third.

With runners on second and third and two out, Bethalto's pitcher walked Mike DeGonia and Mark Linhart, scoring Stegemeier.

In the fourth inning, Hogan reached base on an error by the Bethalto third baseman. Jeff Parker did the same after Hogan had gone to second on a passed ball. Jeff Tretter, playing first base for Tri-City, then walked. Ambuehl reached base on an error that allowed Hogan and Parker to score. Stegemeier then lofted a sacrifice fly to centerfield that scored Tretter.

In the fifth, Steve Ficker, who had come in to catch for Linhart, got a one-out single. That was followed by Sykes' single. Hogan reached base on an error, loading the bases. Parker came in and drove in Ficker with a single.

In the sixth inning, Tri-City scored without benefit of a hit. Ambuehl reached base on an error by Bethalto's third baseman. He went to second and third on passed balls by Bethalto's catcher. He scored when DeGonia grounded out to the shortstop. (Continued on Page 25)

Steelers' long wait is finally at an end

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY—The wait is over. The LONG wait. Granite City North's Steelers were to have played this morning against Oak Forest at 11:30 in the quarterfinals of the Illinois State Class AA (large school) Baseball Tournament in Peoria.

The game ended a waiting period of over a week for North and its coach, Bob Stegemeier. The team defeated Normal High School 6-0 last Tuesday (May 29) in the championship game of the Springfield Sectional. How did North spend the layoff?

"We had workouts every day and worked in a couple of scrimmages with New Athens last Saturday," said Stegemeier. "The layoff didn't appear to have bothered us."

North beat New Athens (a state Class A finalist) 9-6 and lost 4-1 Saturday at New Athens.

We're ready," said Stegemeier prior to making the trip to Peoria. "We've sat waiting long enough. It seems like this week has lasted forever."

"I just told the team that

Win or lose eventful year for GC North

PEORIA — By the time you read this, Granite City North's first game in the state baseball tournament will be history. But no matter the outcome, going to the state tourney has been a tremendous way to wind up a very unusual season for prep baseball in this area.

Prior to the beginning of the 1979 high school campaign, most observers overlooked Granite City North in their pre-season thoughts. Many thought Granite City South would be the team to come closest to a state trip if either Steel City team would.

"North is just too young and green," many thought. "Not enough proven ball players."

But the season's almost over. Before today's games only eight teams remained alive in the state of Illinois among Class AA contenders.

The Sporting Thing

And Granite City North was one of them.

Let's face it. It's only fitting that North finish its 1978-79 school year with a trip to a state finals tournament. The Steel squads — on the whole — didn't exactly have a banner year in athletics win-loss speaking. But most of the bad memories can be erased — or at least softened — by the knowledge that the North baseball team did so well. Win or lose.

North's baseball Steels, I'm sure, have the best wishes of the entire city of Granite City as they go to the state finals. Whether you live on the North side of town or the South side. The Steels are now representing Granite City — in fact the entire Southwestern Illinois area.

North coach Bob Stegemeier has lodged his team in an out-of-the-way motel some 20 miles from Peoria. "I wanted the guys to be away from all the activities around Peoria," he said. "They're a great bunch of guys, but too many distractions aren't good when you've got an objective like ours in mind."

The objective Stegemeier referred to was a state championship. It would be the first in the short history of Granite City High School North. Granite City South has won three state championships — all in soccer. Before the split into GH-CHS North and South there was local state championships in basketball and soccer. But never in baseball.

There's no better time than now to do something about that.

Granite City High School made several trips to the state finals, the farthest advancement being to the final game, as Joe Fedora's 1963 Warrior team did.

Whether Granite City North wins at the state tournament or not is not really important. It is immediately, but what counts is that fact that several young men believed in themselves and their coach to make a commitment and make sacrifices to achieve something they wanted.

Area baseball teams better watch out. Most of North's squad returns next year.

Sam Perkins picks ISU

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

BLOOMINGTON — The Granite City ISU wrestler has made another delivery.

Former GCHS South wrestler Sam Perkins yesterday announced he had signed a letter-of-intent to enroll at Illinois State University next fall, continuing a long line of Granite City athletes who have gone on to play at ISU. Among the former Granite Cityans who are — or have been — ISU athletes are Greg Linhart, Tom Henrich and Rich Martinez (baseball); Mike Baker (cross country and track) and Mike Donoff and Bruce Jateff (football). Recently, Madison track star Earnest Davenport announced his decision to attend ISU.

Perkins will receive a partial-ride scholarship. Perkins achieved a 36-2 record at 138 pounds for South last season. He was the state runner-up at that weight in 1978.

"He's a top-notch," ISU Coach George Girardi said, and the record supports that claim. Perkins won 101 bouts and lost only 26 in four years of high school wrestling.

In 1978, he was fourth in the National Junior Greco-Roman Tournament and sixth in the National Freestyle Tournament, both sponsored by the U.S. Wrestling Federation. Perkins won the National Freestyle championship this spring in a Federation-sponsored tournament in Madison, Wis.

"I had narrowed down to two schools," said Perkins, in an interview. "Northeast Missouri State and ISU. I finally decided on ISU because of several things."

"First, it has a great schedule. Second, it has a good drafting program. And third, it was in-state and closer."

Perkins said the drafting program at ISU was important to him. "That's what I want to go into. Their program was attractive."

Another feature of the ISU program that attracted him was the coach. "Coach Girardi seems like a nice guy," said Perkins. "But he also seems like the type of guy who's going to make me work pretty hard. That's what it takes."

Perkins feels his high school coach, Bill "Red" Schmitt, prepared him well for college wrestling. "Coach Schmitt made us work hard and kept things going," he said. "I don't think there is a better coach anywhere."

Schmitt feels Perkins made a wise decision in picking Illinois State. "It's a good choice," he said. "He's got a good coach. He's got a good team. He's got a good future."

(Girardi) trying to rebuild a team after taking over a couple years ago. He used to be at Normal University High School, so I've known him a number of years.

"He'll push Sam hard. But that's what he needs."

"Girardi is concerned first about his players' education, then about their wrestling. He's a very capable and enthusiastic coach."

Among the teams on that "attractive" schedule for Illinois State next season are Drake, Purdue, Missouri, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and other eastern states next week.

Perkins will get quite a bit of traveling this summer, while getting in shape at the same time. He is a member of an Illinois cultural-exchange wrestling team that will begin a tour of New York, Pennsylvania and other eastern states next week.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tunnie Perkins of Granite City.

Venice Little League is 'alive and well'

VENICE — There really is a Little League program in Venice. And it will open its first season ever here Monday at Lee Park.

Even though there never has been a formal Little League organization in Venice, there has been a desire by many to start one. Those desires have finally been realized.

Under the direction of John Williams and many others, Venice is going to get its Little League.

"We just want the kids to be able to play," said Williams. "We don't care who they are or how good they are. They can play."

There will be different age groups involving both boys and girls. "Sure, we let girls play," said

Williams. "We have several girls who have signed up."

Williams said the entire program is being funded by donations. "We've received donations for equipment and balls," he said. "Some of the uniforms aren't here, but we're going to play Monday with or without uniforms."

The final schedules and teams were being determined at press time. "We'll have everything set up pretty soon," he said. "We have a few kids to work out of it yet, but we will."

And when we do, we'll have us a good baseball program. It's for the kids. "They're the most important part, you know."

The photograph at the left shows serving of a smorgasbord supper to some of the more than 200 Playday participants. Pepper pork, corned beef, ham, roast beef and other delicacies were carved for those in the buffet lines. In the lower picture, facing each other in a pattern much like that of the egg throwers, are lines of parked autos and waiting golf carts.

With much of the year spent serving on Chamber fact-finding committees and action panels, the members annually choose a late-spring day to devote entirely to fun and recreation.

The club, the locale and the weather combined to provide an idyllic setting for this year's event, presided over by Schroeder and Chamber President Roger Higgins. Those reporting they enjoyed the Playday included even David Knollman, whose long Playday golf winning streak came to an end, and Edwin Reinagel, who found that finishing runner-up in the egg competition was almost as much fun as winning, especially after attaining an "eagle" while golfing Monday.

Venice prepares to repeal free textbooks

The Venice Board of Education drew one step closer to calling a referendum seeking approval of voters to start charging fees for textbooks at its meeting last night.

Board Attorney Lawrence Hartman was asked to prepare a resolution for presentation at the July 12 board meeting, with a proposed election date set for July 31.

Wilbert Glasper, acting board president, requested the attorney to prepare the resolution although a final decision on the proposed referendum will be made July 12.

Supt. of School Robert N. Vickers informed the board that the board could save $14,000 and $17,000 can be saved annually by charging pupils for textbooks.

A referendum is required as free school books were authorized by voters in 1938, he explained.

"My own feeling is that we should let the people know there is a serious problem in the district and give them the opportunity to say yes or no in this matter," Vickers said.

The method of charging for textbooks was not determined, but Vickers said it probably would be on a "graduated level by grade."

"We realize there will be some students who can't pay a textbook fee," the administrator said.

He noted the possibility of an allowance being granted by Public Aid for those pupils whose families are receiving welfare payments.

Most school districts in this region have textbook fees, the board learned at a meeting earlier this year.

Vickers was asked to contact other districts to learn different methods of instituting book fees should Venice voters approve the proposed referendum.

The superintendent also was authorized to prepare a tentative budget for 1979-80 for presentation July 21.

According to this schedule, the budget would be displayed for 30 days before a proposed public hearing and its adoption at the Aug. 23 meeting.

Deny street closing for wedding party

A request that 24th Street between State Street and Edison Avenue be closed to permit parking for those attending a wedding reception at The Den on June 16 was turned down by the Granite City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night.

The request was made by William Brandt, attorney, in behalf of Wilkey Williams, operator of The Den, who told the aldermen lighted barricades would be used in closing the street.

Most of the aldermen agreed that in granting such a request the city would be setting a precedent that could result in repeated requests of that nature.

The request was placed "on file" by a vote of the aldermen.

$19,000 fire leaves 2 families homeless

Fire at the Westside Confectionery, 2039 Illinois Ave., at 9:15 p.m. Monday caused an estimated $19,000 damage, according to firemen who fought the blaze for two hours and 45 minutes.

Fire from a lighted candle in the upstairs apartment of Gladys McLean is believed to have spread and started the fire. Her apartment and the adjoining apartment of Florence Michaelson, were damaged, as well as the confectionery.

Firemen estimated damage at $12,000 to the building, $3,000 to owner's contents and $4,000 to the contents of the apartment tenants.

Both families who resided above the confectionery were left homeless and lost nearly all of their belongings in the fire. They are receiving aid from the American Red Cross and the United Way.

Clothing has been made available from the United Way clothing center and help in meeting other needs will come from disaster checks from Illinois Public Aid.

The Red Cross put Mrs. McLean's family in a motel the first night, and both families now are residing temporarily with friends, a Red Cross spokesman said. Both families now are looking for houses to rent.

Mrs. McLean has a daughter, age 16, and a son, 11. Mrs. Michaelson has three children, two boys, 15 and 17, and a girl, 13.

Faces 3 charges

Michael A. Nikonowicz, 17, of 1548 Benton St., was charged with unlawful possession of marijuana and with violating curfew when he was found leaning against a pole on Niedringhaus Avenue near the railroad tracks at 3:35 a.m. Tuesday.

Police alleged 15 marijuana cigarettes and a "roach clip" to hold cigarettes were found in a trouser pocket.

He also was charged with criminal damage to property after he allegedly defaced his jail cell in the new Granite City Jail on Madison Avenue. Officers alleged he scraped a large amount of paint from the walls of the cell. He was the first male prisoner ever detained in the new police facility on Madison Avenue next to the main fire station.

Sanitary district makes payroll; is broke again

Metro-East Sanitary District employees were paid this week as the district received a $54,000 reimbursement from the Environmental Protection Agency, but the district's approximately 65 employees may have to wait about three weeks for their next paychecks.

Paychecks distributed this week were approved by the sanitary district board two weeks ago, but could not be given out, since there was an insufficient amount of money in the bank to cover the payroll until the reimbursement was received.

The board met Wednesday morning in Washington Park and approved payment of some bills, but turned down most requests for overtime payments. When the bills were paid, the checkbook showed a balance of $1,824, far short of the estimated $29,000 which will be required to meet the next payroll.

Another $54,000 check is expected from the EPA in about three weeks and a request for a $120,000 reimbursement is being prepared. EPA reimbursements are for work being done on the Cahokia sanitary sewer trunk line repair project, which is primarily funded by a federal loan.

After the meeting, board members confirmed a report initially disclosed by the Press-Record that Executive Director Wendell Wheadon had verbally resigned and has cleaned out his desk and office.

Board President Russell Robinson of Granite City said that Wheadon will continue to be "in and out of the office" to help the transition until his vacation and sick leave time runs out the end of June. Wheadon has yet to submit his written resignation.

Fewer traffic injuries here in '79

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

Injuries resulting from traffic accidents in the Quad-City area during the first five months of this year fell off sharply below those of the same period a year ago, while the number of accidents involving injuries also dropped substantially, according to statistics compiled by the Press-Record.

A total of 297 persons were injured in 212 area accidents during the period this year, a reduction from 396 persons hurt in 282 accidents during the same period of 1978.

This is a decline of 29 percent in the number of injuries and a drop of 24.8 percent in the number of injury accidents below last year's figures.

The statistics involve only those accidents in which injuries to drivers or passengers were reported, and do not include those involving only property damage.

Totals for the five-month period were compiled after May accident statistics showed a total of 15 persons injured in 59 area injury accidents, compared with 80 persons hurt in 62 accidents during May 1978.

One traffic fatality also occurred last month, bringing to seven the total number of traffic fatalities so far this year. There were six traffic deaths during the first five months of 1978. While the number of persons hurt in traffic accidents increased by five over the 80 injuries reported in May a year ago, substantial reductions in both the number of accidents and injuries occurred during March and April.

In March, there were 33 injury accidents resulting in injuries to 47 persons, compared with 62 accidents causing injuries to 97 persons in the same month in 1978.

April statistics showed 51 accidents causing injuries to 72 persons, compared with 72 accidents in which 103 persons were hurt in April 1978.

During February, 33 persons were hurt in 41 accidents, a decline from the 45 accidents causing injuries to 58 persons in the same month in 1978.

Only a slight change was seen in January when 58 persons were injured in 37 accidents. In January 1978, 58 persons were hurt in 39 accidents.

The seven traffic deaths in the area during the five-month period included four in January and one each in February, March and May.

During 1978, there were two fatalities each in February and March and one each in January and May. April was without a fatality in both years.

An all-day workshop on conservation of older buildings was conducted at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Wednesday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sponsors were Landmarks Preservation Service and the Illinois Humanities Council, in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs, and the STUE departments of history, geography and planning.

Financial assistance, or financial and tax abatement incentives, adaptive uses for public buildings, and renovation techniques for long-term value were among the issues that were discussed. Professionals with statewide experience in each field presented some of the options, using as their examples projects in Illinois communities.

City and county officials, developers, realtors, owners of commercial property and officials from lending institutions in Southwestern Illinois municipalities were among those invited to participate in eight round-table work sessions on local problems in dealing with older buildings.

The Landmarks Preservation Council is a statewide, not-for-profit, citizens membership organization, dedicated to keeping landmark buildings and districts in active use.

Taking TV's 'Taxi' back home again

Call them hacks, cabs, cars or limos, automobiles driven for hire are part of the urban scene in every American city. But the quintessential driver remains the legendary New York City cabbie.

And it is just such a crew of cabbies that television viewers have come to love on ABC's "Taxi." One of the reasons for the show's enormous appeal and success is its cast. Each of them is closer to his character than most TV or film actors.

Judd Hirsch, who plays easy-going, philosophical Alex Reiger, is a native New Yorker. He attended local high schools, and studied engineering at the City College of New York, and architecture at Cooper Union.

He never drove a cab, but he had innumerable other odd jobs, while trying to survive, after he moved on to acting. His most serious studies came during a stint with the prestigious Academy of Dramatic Arts.

Even when he won numerous roles on TV, he stuck to New York. He has been active both on and off Broadway in such plays as "The Hot L Baltimore," "Knock Knock," "Barefoot in the Park," "Scuba Duba" and the current off-Broadway hit "Talley's Folly."

No sooner had "Taxi" gone on hiatus this spring than Hirsch headed for the city to begin rehearsals for this critically-acclaimed play. Those fortunate enough to see him during its limited-run engagement have seen yet another dimension to Hirsch's talents. And among those in the front row were his co-stars, who seem to stick together even more closely off-camera than on.

As for Tony Danza, what can you say about a Brooklyn-born boxer who becomes a TV star and still fights in the ring? This guy can deliver a punch as easy as he can a punchline.

Hirsch and the rest of the "Taxi" cast showed up last month at Madison Square

"TAXI" may be shot in Hollywood, but when it goes on hiatus, the cast, like the cabbies they play, head back to New York for a little hustle and bustle.

Garden to see Danza weight opponent in 2:00 of dispose of his middle- the first round. The bright lights haven't affected his reflexes any.

Mari Lu Henner may be from Chicago, but it was in New York that she got her big break. After touring in the national road company of "Grease," she landed a part in "Over Here," the Andrew Sisters Broadway musical which also featured another chorus kid who made it big, John Travolta. Eventually the two did "Grease" on Broadway. While Hirsch was performing and Danza fighting, Ms. Henner spent her spare time in the city with some local cabbies exchanging stories and picking up ideas.

The Lighter Side

Where the rocks and cookies are

One day last month, when I was in a particularly ambitious frame of mind, I decided to enter my sons' bedroom for a little spring cleaning. Oh foolish woman! I learned a long time ago not to go into the boys' room with my eyes open. In fact, I try to stay out of their room altogether. It just isn't a place for a "clean" addict like myself to be.

But a couple of times a month I must force myself into their room and at least once a year I must open their dresser drawers. On that day I did both.

Little boys keep some of the strangest things in their drawers. As I ventured into my oldest son's top drawer I found that it was more than a little difficult to move. I quickly found out why.

He had his entire collection of rocks, some 324 of them, tucked away in his top dresser drawer. No socks.

No underclothes. Just rocks.

Dennis, my younger son, has a dresser area reserved for favorite things. In his top drawer I discovered most of the work he has done at school this year, 28 valentines, 14 birthday cards, 756 playing cards, and a 45 rpm record by Chubby Checker. I decided that if I was going to correct the boys' thinking about what should go into a dresser drawer, I would have to show them what an organized dresser should look like.

I dumped everything out of all six drawers and got a trash bag out of the kitchen. I set to work on the first drawer, the one with the rocks.

I cleared a toy shelf and gave Ross the task of setting up a display of his rock collection. I hoped that their being out in the open would cause no problems the next time the kids had a squabble.

I envisioned a rock fight raging in the middle of my living room.

I put that thought out of my mind and continued to remove things other than clothing from the drawers. It was somewhere near the bottom of the third drawer that I discovered the cookie stash. Seems the kids had been saving at least a part of the cookies given them for later consumption. They had been there for a long time.

About two hours later the dresser was neat as a pin, a place for everything and everything in its place. I was pleased.

The boys weren't too happy, though. They have such a hard time dealing with neat. But one way or another I have got to show them the value of knowing where their things are.

I don't want them to grow up as scatterbrained as their mother.

'Blind faith' guides pianist to nationwide TV appearance

By GARY SCHNEIDER

When Mrs. Ada Causey of Collinsville, a former Granite City resident, went to Charlotte, N.C., last month, she had no idea she was about to make a coast-to-coast television appearance.

Mrs. Causey, who is blind, went to Charlotte to be present at a taping of the television program the PTL (Praise the Lord) Club and was "in the right place at the right time," as a scheduled performer cancelled the day she visited the program and she was asked to perform.

For many years, she has been the piano player for area churches, including playing at Tri-City Park Tabernacle in Granite City when she lived here. Known to those in the church as "Sister Ada," she has a deep religious faith which shows in her music.

She now plays Sundays at the First Community Church of Collinsville and on Wednesday nights at the Assembly of God Church in Collinsville.

It was her piano playing which resulted in her getting to know William Causey, whom she married. He also is blind, having lost his sight at the age of 23.

"I was at a Christmas party for blind people they held in East St. Louis and he kept following me around. I told a friend I did not like him following me. Later, I was asked to play the piano and when I sat down to play, I was trapped. I couldn't get away from him then. Well, it all worked out," Mrs. Causey said.

She believes the events which led to her being on the PTL Club were the work of God. "He wanted me to be on television," she believes.

When she and her husband resided in Chicago for a time, they met Norman and Dorothy Bakker. Bakker is the brother of Jim Bakker, producer of the PTL Club.

When the Causeys moved from Chicago, they lost touch with Norman and Dorothy Bakker. "We used to send tape-recorded letters back and forth, but my tape recorder broke and we just lost track," Mrs. Causey said.

The Bakkers had to make many calls before they were able to find the Causeys again. Norman Bakker had gone to work for the PTL Club in Charlotte, N.C., and wanted Mrs. Causey to visit and to be present at the taping of the television show.

"I didn't know how I was going to get there until two friends of mine, Evelyn Jones of Glen Carbon and Bernice Larimore of Collinsville said they would drive me and would split expenses," Mrs. Causey said.

"They normally book their guests on the show months in advance, but while I was visiting, Norman Bakker was told a performer had cancelled for the show to be taped May 24 and he said not to worry, he had someone right here. It was me," Mrs. Causey said.

She appears on the second half of a two-hour show which will be seen on Channel 30 in St. Louis, but the St. Louis station normally broadcasts only the first half of the program.

"I don't know if I will be on television here, but it doesn't really matter. It was a thrill just to tape the show and meet all the people I have listened to so many times. At least they will mention my name at the beginning of the show as one of the guests," Mrs. Causey concluded.

The show is tentatively scheduled to air Thursday, June 14, on Channel 30.

Graduation of new depts on June 16

Students in the fifth graduating class of the School of Dental Medicine of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be awarded the doctor of dental medicine degree at commencement exercises Saturday, June 16. The ceremony is scheduled at 10 a.m. in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center.

Congressman Paul Simon, (D-Ill.), will give the major commencement address. He is a former newspaper editor, legislator and lieutenant governor of Illinois and is a member of the Education and Labor Committee in the U.S. House.

Acting Chancellor James Brown of the SIU system will welcome commencement guests before degrees are conferred by SIUE President Charles A. Shaw. Vice President Earl Lazerson and Dr. Henry Cherrick, dean of the School of Dental Medicine, will assist graduates with the hooding.

The program includes a concert by the SIUE Brass Ensemble and a class response given by Dr. Wilbert Milligan. The Rev. Larry Meinzen, SIUE campus minister, will give the invocation and benediction.

A reception honoring the 1979 graduates will be held in Goshen Lounge of the University Center immediately after the program. The commencement is open to the public.

ETHNIC DAYS

The event will again be under the control of the Madison Fire Department and Madison Armvets Post 204. Plus RIGID STONE

1,000,000 pounds of hydraulic pressure forms each panel from patterns created by artisans. Real brick and stone materials, a special blend of colors, and rugged Owens-Corning Fiberglas are bonded into the beautiful finished product. It's rich, waterproof, weatherproof.

OWENS CORNING FIBERGLAS

NEW Baked Enamel ALUMINUM Soffit & Fascia

Every homeowner recognizes that the toughest, most expensive (yes, and dangerous) place to paint is the area underneath the roof overhang (soffit) and along the roof edges (fascia). Even owners of brick homes don't escape this painting problem.

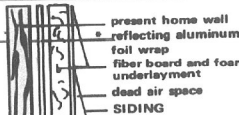

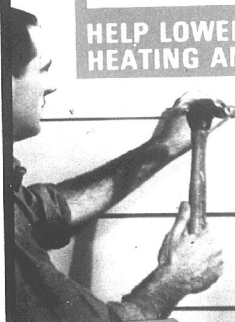

areal Baked Enamel Aluminum soffits and fascia free you of this costly maintenance problem, and risky ladder climbing, for years to come. We cover all wood under eaves and fascia board plus all overhang.

Gutters & Downspouts

Worn-out gutters and downspouts are an eyesore—and a headache! Replace them at remarkably low cost with prefinished aluminum gutters and downspouts.

INSULATE

HELP LOWER YOUR HEATING AND COOLING BILLS

Special foam backer with foil underlayment is available to insure greater insulation efficiencies, and stop air leaks.
